

Q: What did you feel after you saw the injured bird divide itself into three healthy birds? Did it take you a while to share that with someone? (I have not read The Angel Experiment.) I was at the nail salon when I read that page of your book. I stopped and re-read it aloud to the woman painting my nails. We were both smiling. It's very magical.

A: That's so sweet!

I felt an electrical presence of love, almost like static electricity, but full of giant, audacious love. If the word "Hallelujah" described a feeling, then it felt like something along those lines. Divinely inspired and way beyond any form of love that I had experienced before.

Because I am a licensed therapist and a pretty grounded human, I was definitely hesitant to share what happened to me with others. It was kind of like being madly in love with a secret lover and wanting to talk about it all the time, but feeling like it was taboo and I wasn't in the mood to be judged by colleagues, friends, and peers.

However, I went through such a radical change inside my heart and mind, that spirit encouraged me to share my experiences and the healing work with angels. I realized I was hoarding the good soul-medicine that the angels brought to me, so instead of keeping it to myself, I decided to share the goods.

The blessings that I've experienced from sharing what I know about angels far surpasses any judgment that I've received. I shouldn't have waited so long to share!

Q: Have you ever seen the angels and allies you highlight in your book? If so, what do they look like? How can you tell them apart from each other? Last night, I felt an unusually overwhelming anxiety. I called on angels for help. I could see a light white energy in front of me. I hope to be able to see more in the future.

A: How exciting that you saw the light. That is really cool! Angels show up to each person differently depending on how they receive intuitive information, so they can come through in a variety of different ways. The biggest way I experience angels is through clairsentience. I can feel when an angel is near and it feels like effervescent goodness!

Each angel also comes with a different "signal". Sometimes it's a physical sensation, sometimes it's a wave of peace, or maybe the room just seems to get brighter, or as in your case, you can definitely see them as a variety of amazing kinds of lights.

I have also seen lights, sparkles, orbs, as angels are beings of light and are quite good at bending light to let folks know that they are there.

Q: How did you go about writing your 11-Day Wealth Ritual? Do you have a suggestion for readers to keep the wealth focusing going after the 11 days?

A: I researched angels of wealth and success to locate angels that carried qualities that could support someone in amassing wealth — angels that help with confidence, communication, audacity, wealth angels, and so much more. It was so fun going through some of these lesser known angels that are found in Rabbinical texts and that have been used by magicians for hundreds, if not, thousands of years.

After I gathered the angels that I was attracted to, I channeled with them and essentially asked which angels and allies wanted to go on Day 1, Day 2, etc. The way the ritual is set up, each day builds upon the last. All of the days together are meant to impact the heart, the mind, and the bank account so they are all aligned with the wealth magic at hand.

After someone completes the Wealth Ritual, I recommend coming back to it every so often. This ritual can help you shift into an entirely new way of believing, dreaming, and be-ing in action in the world. I also make a lot of recommendations in the back of the book to help keep the reader's wealth magic juicy and flowing.

Q: What did you learn about yourself writing Angel Wealth Magic?

A: First and foremost, I found that I greatly annoy myself. I always write so much more than I will ever need. This book is about 20% of everything I wrote about wealth for the book. When I sit down to write an angel book, it's like the floodgates open and I do my best to get all the things that were channeled out on paper. That's the fun part because the angels hook me up with all kinds of incredible insights and inspiration when I write. The annoying part is having to sift through all my notes to pull out the pieces that are easily digestible and doable for the purpose of the book. Writing my two angel books was truly an incredible process. When the angels have something to say, they can be relentless until you listen to the guidance that you receive and write the goodness down.

Q: What is the most rewarding part of your book journeys?

A: Oh that's easy. It's the positive impact these books have had on beautiful humans. Helping folks tune into the most spectacular invisible allies I've ever encountered, the angels, and hearing the incredible miracles they experience because of their ultra simple methods is absolutely spectacular. I seriously can't believe that I get to do this for a living. I get emails all the time from people I've never met saying how much their lives have changed because of the books or my classes. It's truly mind-bending and heart-expanding. The fact that I re-sisted talking about angels and miracles after that first miracle seems preposterous to me now.

Life can be such a magical playground when we stop caring about what folks might think about us and start walking in our whole truth. The angels encourage all of us to show up more fiercely and honestly in our lives, and so do I. Miracles are real. Especially when we say yes to the amazing medicine that our spirit team has to offer.

Corin Grillo is the author of Angel Wealth Magic and The Angel Experiment. She offers online trainings in authentic spiritual leadership, nature immersions, intuitive healing arts, in-person trainings. She has dedicated her life to sharing the life-changing gifts she received while learning to work with the angels. Visit her online at www.CorinGrillo.com.

 You can learn more about author, intuitive healer, and jewelry artist Allison Bruce at www.FlourishIntegralHealth.com